COLONEL GIVEN HIGH TITLES BY BOY SCOUTS

American Is Guest of the Communications Department at Lunch.

Brownsville, Tex., Dec. 21 (A.P.).— Mrs. Evangeline L. L. Lindbergh arrived here by air at 5:02 o'clock this afternoon and prepared to cross the international border tomorrow in her flight to Mexico City to pass Christmas with her famous son, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

The big trimotored monoplane, carry ing Mrs. Lindbergh as a passenger overed approximately 715 miles after taking off from Tulsa, Okla., this morning. It was the third day in the air for the mother of the "lone eagle" since she left Detroit.

Boy Scouts Honor Colonel.

Mexico City, Dec. 21 (A.P.).—Mexican Boy Scouts, adopting Col. Charles A. Lindbergh as their ideal of youth and manhood, have conferred upon him their three highest decorations—Knight of the Order of the Lion, Knight of the Order of the Eagle and Knight of the Order of the Eagle and Knight of the Order of the Tiger.

The little ceremony at the American Embassy, in which these honors were bestowed, greatly pleased Lindbergh to whom the development of aviation and the improvement of young manhood are very dear objects.

With all the many things that he has to keep in mind, the uppermost thought with Col. Lindbergh is the air journey which his mother is making to pass Christmas with him. Mrs. Lindbergh will probably reach Mexico City tomorrow afternoon, and her son will go forth in a plane to meet her, and guide her safely to Valbuena field, and thence escort her to the American Embassy, where she will be the guest of Ambassador and Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow.

of Ambassador and sars. Dwight w. Morrow.

Another evidence that America's air hero is close to the hearts of Mexicans is that everywhere about the streets, at the Christmas stands surrounding the plazas, tiny models of Lindbergh's plane, "The Spirit of St. Louis," and of the birdman himself, fashioned out of wood, clay, straw and various metals, are on display and in great demand.

"Sandwich Luncheon" Given

When Lindbergh joined the order of Mexican Boy Scouts today he was greeted by the chief of that organization, Jose V. Escobar. Eight typical boys of the order, in full uniform, were with their leader, all delighted at the opportunity of paying tribute to the "Lone Eagle," whom they had been cheering from a distance for days past and whose exploits they had probably been dreaming about for the same period.

The young colonel greeted them all in his quiet, cordial way, saying that he was greatly honored by their action in making him a membe" of their highest order. When they left, three more medals had been added to the multitudinous array which Col. Lindbergh can now wear whenever he chooses.

During the morning Col. Lindbergh was the guest of honor at a "sandwich breakfast" at the department of communications where his flight was hailed as beginning an era of better communication as well as inaugurating a period of more international friendship and better relations.

Large crowds cheered Lindbergh as he entered the building and the corridors and stairways were jammed with applauding spectators as he passed.

The latest information regarding the progress of Mrs. Evangeline L. Lindbergh, who will spend Christmas with her son, indicates that she may land in Mexico City tomorrow afternoon. If this is the case it will be necessary to postpone an entertainment which Gen. Obregon had prepared for tomorrow, consisting of a trip to the pyramids at San Juan Teotihuacan, 30 miles from Mexico City, with luncheon in the caves near the famous pyramids and the ancient temple excavations.

Marion, Ohio, Dec. 21 (A.P.).—Brief services at noon today completed entomoment rites for the late President Harding and his wife, whose bodies were moved yesterday from their temporary tomb in the Marion Cemetery to the $500,000 Harding Memorial here.
Only a few members of the fortice. porary tomb in the Marion Cemetery to the $500,000 Harding Memorial here. Only a few members of the family and close friends attended. Dedication of the memorial is tentatively set for next June, when President Coolidge is to deliver the dedicatorial address. More than 1,000,000 persons are estimated to have visited the Harding tomb and home since the President died suddenly August 2, 1923. In San Francisco. The Harding Memorial Association, organized to erect a fitting memorial to the late President, came into being shortly after his death. Approximately $800,000 was raised throughout the Nation for this memorial, of which $500,000 has gone into its construction. The remainder is being used for landscaping and for an endowment.

All during the time the bodies of the late President and Mrs. Harding were at the temporary tomb a detachment from the Tenth Infantry guarded it. It is estimated the cost of the guard has been nearly $135,000.

Failed Once Before.

Chicago, Dec. 21 (A.P.).—Alice Munn Prevo, 27-year-old night club hostess and a "stepchild of life," as she once said has made good her threat to kill herself. Her body, a bullet wound through the heart, was found in her boarding house room yesterday.

Once before she had tried sulcide, but failed. Recovering from the poison she had taken then—it was last June—she said: "The next time they'll take me to a morgue, not a hospital."

Mrs. Prevo figured in the "bathtub murder mystery" of Mrs. Carl Wood last spring, her testimony absolving her husband, Delbert Prevo, from suspicion.

Two letters, one to her husband, and one to the police, were found.

"I would like to be buried by my father and mother in Walla Walla, "Wash," she wrote, "but if no one has the money, the potter's field is just as a well."

EXAMINATION FAILS TO DISTURB KIDWELL

Juror Insists Two Affidavits He Signed Contained False Statements,

By NORMAN W. BAXTER.

The charge that witnesses in the ontempt trial of Harry F. Sinclair and timidated, which caused a court sensation on Tuesday, was not disposed of yesterday Instead, it was enlarged by the general action of all the counsel for the various respondents joining in the accusation as to Juror Kidwell, made by George P. Hoover, of counsel for Sinclair, and the notification by Charles A. Douglas, of counsel for the Burns respondents, that he wished to introduce testimony to show that many of the Burns operatives subpensed in the case had also been subject to intimidation and coercive measures on the part of the district attorney's office. timidated, which caused a court sensa-the part of the district attorney's office.

Indications last night, therefore, were that the present investigation, which the court ruled was entirely distinct and separate from the main contempt case, would continue for several days, postponing further decision in the latter case, which has already occupied almost three court weeks.

Such testimony as was presented yesterday, through the examination of Edward J Kidwell, ir., by Assistant District Attorney James J. O'Leary falled to shake the previous assertion of the witness that statements which were not true had been included in two of the affidavits which he swore to and signed.

Repudiates Identification.

Kidwell stated specifically and re-peatedly that he had not told Mr. O'Leary or any one else that he could identify positively or otherwise either Operative O'Reilly as the man who had talked to him near the courthouse, nor Operative Stewart as the man who had engaged him in conversation on a Operative Stewart as the man who had engaged him in conversation on a bench in the grounds of the National Museum. Statements to that effect were included in the affidavits as released by the district attorney's office Tuesday and placed in evidence today, but it was Kidwell's contention that the disputed portions of the affidavits were not his language, but that of Mr. O'Leary. Kidwell did testify that he had acknowledged that the statements were true to the best of his belief when he swore to and signed them before a notary public.

he swore to and signed them before a notary public.

A new line of attack against the office of the district attorney was opened during the day when Judge Daniel Thew Wright, of counsel for Henry Mason Day, asked the court to ascertain the whereabouts of Edward J. Kidwell, sr., father of the witness, and Mrs. Mary P. Kidwell, his mother. Judge Wright informed the court that although they had been present earlier in the day they were not then, and said he wished to know whether they were being "detained" in the district attorney' office.

Inquiry Will Be Pressed.

Mr. O'Leary said that he had informed Kidwell's parents that he would not need them immediately, that they might leave the courtroom, but should remain in the vicinity of the court.

It remained to be determined last night, in fact, to what extent the separate investigation of the intimidation of witnesses would be carried. Justice Siddons indicated very plainly during the day, when he was asked by the Government if he wished further testimony from it as to the charges respecting Juror Kidwell, that he expected the matter to be continued until the Government had presented all of its facts, and testimony had been given by such witnesses as Mr. all of its facts, and testimony had been given by such witnesses as Mr. Hoover might care to call to sustain the latter's charges.

Just at adjournment, however, Justice Siddons suggested for the consideration of the attorneys in the case that it might be possible to separate some of the issues so that the hearing some of the issues so that the hearing of the contempt issue would not be postponed for too long a time. In connection with this suggestion the court intimated that, where the intimidation dealt with witnesses who had already testified, the issue might be separated from the present case.

Seek Action on Charges. .

Seek Action on Charges.

Attorneys for the respondents are expected to oppose a severance of the issues when court meets today because of their belief that the accusations growing out of the present trial can be better considered at the present time than at a future date.

The examination of Kidwell by Mr. O'Leary, which had not been concluded when court adjourned, carried him through the period from December 8 to the end of last week. He was interrogated minutely as to the circumstances under which he made the affidavits and statements which the Government obtained from him during that time. He was asked on many occasions and in many ways as to what he may have sair in regard to his ability to identify Operatives O'Reilly and Stewart, but refused as often to acknowledge that he had ever done. The question whether Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder has proven his charges of overorganization and waste

Thomas P. Magruder has proven his charges of overorganization and waste in naval. dministration developed yesterday to be a tinderbox at a naval committee hearing.

In the admiral's presence several committee members engaged in a short but heated airing of theh personal opinions on what he had told them.

Magruder, who was deposed as commander of the Philadelphia Navy Yard after publishing his accusations, had offered to leave the room, but the members did not wait for that and the sea fighter, who was cited for bravery in the Spanish-American War, had to sit still and listen without being able to fire a verbal gun in his own defense.

Acting Chairman Britten, of Illinois, started the warfare by declaring that Magruder in five days had not given the committee a constructive suggestion.

"I do not agree with that," interrupted Representative McClintic (Democrat), Oklahoma. "You and only one or two other members have had a chance to question him."

Representative Andrew (Republican). Massachusetts, agreed with McClintic, declaring he did not think Britten's statement should go out in the press.

Representative Vinson, of Georgia, senior Democratic member, who many times has been the committee pacifier, smoothed over the situation by demanding that the discussion of Magruder's charges be postponed to an executive session behind closed doors.

Magruder yesterday, among other things, argued that the Navy should stop using old ships that would be of no value in war. He and Vinson also engaged in a long discussion over abolishing naval hospitals.

Oklahoma City, Okia.. Dec. 21 (A.P.). Twe new court orders tonight lent assistance to the efforts of Gov. The house leaders were silent as to their future plans. E. P. Hill, speaker of the house, said no announcement would be made for the present. H. DOTY, BACK IN U.S., SENTENCE OF DEATH

Saved From Foreign Legion, He Returns to Enjoy Crab Gumbo.

Special to The Washington Post. New York, Dec. 21.—Bennett J. Doty, out of adventure and desert sands toward Biloxi, Miss., and the soft Gulf breezes which blow over the family front porch, paused today in New York and told reporters how it was.

New York and told reporters how it was.

Drawling, slow, unimpressed, he talked of the Foreign Legion, from which he walked away one boring hot day in Syria, of fighting and capture and prison sentence, of the sands of Algeria and of the Bedouins, who fight more savagely than the Druses.

He talked casually of the events in his life, which were not so long ago an international issue, as the Government used its influence to get him off an eight-year prison sentence which he was working out in Oran. He talked for the first time at length of those events and others and announced that he didn't want to be a reporter because the life was, from what he had observed, insufficiently dedicated to sleep.

Dreams of Crab Gumbo.

Dreams of Crab Gumbo.

Dreams of Crab Gumbo.

What he added to the story of his adventures as told in cabled dispatches was the flesh to cover a skeleton; and as he talked of Syria he thought of the crab gumbo that Solomon, his father's cook, is going to fix up for him when he gets back to Biloxi. He met his father and mother at the dock and heard the former comment that "He looks mighty thin."

He wanted to know if it was really true that his brother, that hard-bolled kid, had fallen for a girl.

Thirty-five reporters dragged him back to the past. He announced immediately that he had not at any time been sentenced to be shot and that—yes, he had the croix de guerre. But that capital sentence which was reported to have been imposed after his desertion—"That's all applesauce," remarked Doty. "In fact, according to the stories, I was waiting to be shot before we even were tried. We raised the point that no enemy was around and we were not under fire when we walked out."

Believed to Have Willed $100,000 to Howard and Fisk Universities.

Fisk Universities.

Word was received here yesterday of the death of Dr. John W. McClellan, negro surgeon of St. Louis, who was a graduate of Howard University. He is believed to have bequeathed an estate of more than $100,000 to Fisk University, Nashville, Tenn., and to the local institution. Robert N. Owens, negro attorney, has said he drew the only will of Dr. McClellan on March 16.

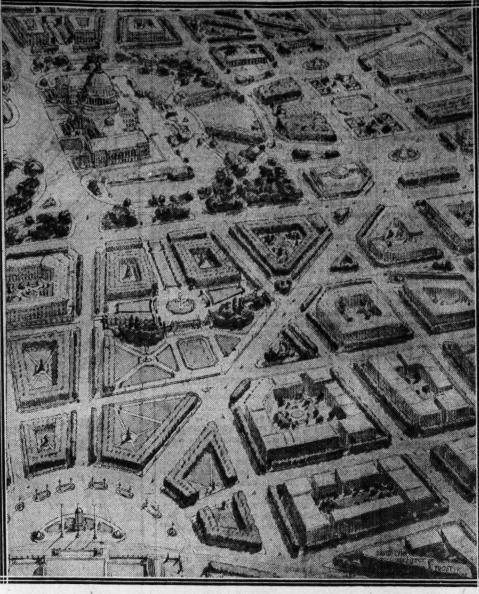

The attorney, it is understod, is considering the possibility of probating a copy of the will in his possession if the original can not be found. The estate, under the law, would go to five brothers and a sister of the doctor should no will be probated. Dr. O. S. McClellan, a brother, indicated yesterday, his belief that relatives would not oppose the bequests to the universities.

The St. Louis physician paid $1,000 in the recent Howard University endowment fund drive, according to Dr. Emmett J. Scott, secretary-treasurer of the university, and $2,000 to Fisk University in its subsequent endowment drive. It was the doctor's purpose, in the belief of the university officials, to give an expression of his large interest in negro education and especially in the institutions where he was trained.

Or he might drive along the proposed new street that is to cut across where the St. James Hotel now stands and drive directly to the Arlington Memorial Bridge.

In the more distant future, there will be a new group of District of Columbia buildings a few blocks west-ward of the proposed park. Once this and other projects have been completed, it is expected that the fortune-telling stands and the other shops that have horrified visitors will disappear.

Capital.

A feature of the park would be a handsome boulevard, 150 feet wide, starting from the Columbus statue in front of Union Station and extending, in a southwesterly direction, to Pennsylvania avenue.

The original plans provided that this boulevard should enter into First street and connect with Peace Monument. But the new plans provide for the boulevard entering Pennsylvania avenue at Second street.

at Second street.

This is the principal difference between the old plan and the new plan. If the boulevard enters into First street, Mr. Lynn pointed out, it will cut off a slice of the Capitol grounds, whereas, if it extends to Second street, the grounds will remain intact, and the general landscape effect will be much more beautiful. It is to carry out this latter plan that it is now proposed to acquire additional land.

Beautiful to Visitors.

First impressions always are portant, Mr. Lynn said, and he portant, Mr. Lynn said, and he pre-dicted that there would be no city in the world that would make such a favorable first impression upon the visitors as will Washington after the proposed park is completed.

THE TREATY WITH FRANCE.

It is understood that Secretary Kellogg yeserday discussed with the Senate committee on reign affairs the outlines of a proposed treaty ith France. The arbitration convention signed by Secretary Root and Ambassador Jusherand in 1908 has been continued in force in five-year periods, and will terminate on February 27, 1928, unless extended. The "Treaty for the Advancement of Peace," signed by Secretary Bryan and Ambassador Jusserand in 1914. remains in force. The Root-Jusserand treaty provides for reference to the Permanent Court of Arbitration at The Hague all differences of legal nature or relating to the interpretation of treaties, which may not have been possible to settle by diplomacy. The Bryan-Jusserand treaty provides that all disputes not settled by diplomacy or arbitration shall be reported upon by a special commission before resort to

Last spring Foreign Minister Briand suggested that the United States and France should agree to outlaw war as between themselves. In one form or another this suggestion has been supported by Americans interested in promoting world peace. President Coolidge has made it clear that he favors making agreements that will help to prevent war, but he doubts that a treaty can take away from Congress the power to declare war. Hence a question arises as to the extent to which the United States is willing to go in a treaty with France.

The extension of the Root-Jusserand arbitration treaty is to be expected. There should be no opposition to it. Of course, the correspondence between Secretary Hughes and Ambassador Jusserand in 1923, whereby it was understood that the two nations would agree to refer disputes to the so-called world court, in case the United States should adhere to the protocol creating that court, is not now applicable.

Is it practicable for the United States and France to go further in their efforts to banish war as between them?

Naturally, the United States should not enter into any agreement of this character with France which it would not make with other nowers.

Senator Capper has offered a resolution which aims to renounce war as an instrument of policy. It is a question whether the United States can effectively enter into such a plan with France or any other country, because any Congress, by a declaration of war, can set aside a treaty. There is no method by which any authority of the United States can give an effective pledge that Congress will never declare war. Congress itself can not bind future Congresses.

However, the United States by treaty can de clare that its fixed purpose is to avoid war as an instrument of policy. It can agree to confor with other contracting parties whenever a question arises that threatens war between them. This agreement is embodied in the four-power treaty relating to the Pacific islands. The principle of agreeing to confer when danger threatens is practicable. If the powers of Europe had had such an agreement in 1914 it is probable that war would have been averted by a conference.

Possibly the United States and France may be the first among nations to take this great step forward.

MAIL-ORDER HEREDITY.

According to the Boston Transcript, yet another industry has discovered the benefit of emall profits on large sales. It is nothing more nor less than supplying the American with his genealogy. This is, of course, a democracy which everybody is free and equal; notthstanding, it is more comfortable and satistying to learn that one's earliest recorded sire knew the Conqueror rather well, and that the distaff side, one is sprung straight from the loins of a conscientious crusader.

Realizing this, the genealogical factories are how quoting the full family record (attractivend, postage pre-paid) at $250. The radical shift in policy may be realized from the former price, which averaged around $9,000. as the Transcript notes, trade in geneal is chiefly a mail-order business.

pe and potentialities of this need no illusration. From every town and cliff-dwelling. m every shack and gopher-hole, the derfully supplied at a cost less than that of ord cur. The temptation to learn somehing of one's forebears is thus rapidly being made too powerful to resist. Even the surprising revelation of a family skeleton who diced and swore is made pleasant, nay, welcome, by the felicitous fact that he floundered in the mud of Agincourt, married a baron's daughter and that for years his descendants were entitled annually to receive a chine of beef from the crown.

TAXES AT THE CAPITAL.

"The residents of Washington, of course, should bear and are bearing a fair tax burden, but the Capital is peculiarly a national problem. The people of the Nation regard it as their responsibility," remarked Senator Jones, of Washington, to members of the Washington Chamber of Commerce. The Government, in his opinion, can not assume its just share if it continues the lump sum method of making appropriations. Congress should go back to the definite proportion basis, as provided for in existing law.

Washington, because it is the Capital City. can be compared to no other municipality in the country. The streets are broader than elsewhere, there are a greater number of parks and pieces of tax-exempt property in the Capital because Washington is the seat of National Government. Congress, in establishing the District of Columbia, deprived the city of the business and manufacturing activities that are to be found in other cities where they produce large revenues. The Capital should not be penalized for being the seat of Government. Its citizens must not be forced to bear an excessive tax burden because of the fact that the development of the city has been circumscribed by circumstances.

Sentiment in favor of resumption of the proportional method of making appropriations is growing satisfactorily. The public and the citizens and civic associations are united in pushing for reform, and Congressional sentiment has undergone a change. The battle will not be won, however, until a satisfactory anpropriations measure has been passed. There must be no let-down in the crusade to obtain a just and equitable system of taxation for the National Capital.

COLLEGE RECORDS BROKEN.

For seventeen years the Boston Transcript has been conducting an annual survey of college enrollments throughout the country. The report for 1927, just made public, proves that despite more difficult entrance requirements and the adoption of various schemes for limiting the number of students admitted, more young men and young women are being eduoated today than ever before. The census was taken in 90 colleges and universities representing every type of educational effort. This year there are registered in the 90 institutions 297,000 full time students as compared with 283.000 at a corresponding period last year This represents a gain of 4.82 per cent.

The belief has existed for upwards of a decade that the United States has been granting higher education to a too great proportion of its population. Various schemes have been deto limit college registrations. Intelligence tests, rigid preparatory requirements various types of entrance examinations and character references have been utilized to measure the right of a prospective student to admission. Nevertheless, each year, during the past seventeen, college enrollments have shown increases.

There is little reason to worry over the great and growing number of young men and young women who desire college training. The country has prospered during the years in which increasing numbers of graduates were being turned out into the world. There has been little or no evidence that the graduates themselves have not been benefited by their college experience. Maybe, critics notwithstanding, the insatiable appetite of American youth for higher education is the most significant and healthy sign that could be exhibited in connection with the future development of the country.

GIVE US STAMPS THAT STICK.

The monthly news bulletin of the Bureau of bulletin is loaded with interesting accounts of the manner in which commerce has responded to the bureau's efforts to standardize production and to eliminate waste in industry Concerns in all lines of husiness have comto realize that the steady increase in industrial efficiency makes possible the continuance of high wages, which in turn furnishes the "chief assurance of sustained high purchasing power for the mass of the people."

The Department of Commerce has accom plished wonders in the way of educating industry in the elimination of waste, and in the standardization of machinery and specifica tions. The bulletin points out that "close adherence to standard construction weights and widths whenever possible in buying textiles makes for lower prices, wider sources of supply and quicker deliveries." Those words "close adherence to standard" sound good. Why not apply the rule to goods made and sold by Uncle

The Post has called the attention of the Bureau of Efficiency, which in a measure is responsible for the postage stamp production of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, to the lack of the quality of "close adherence" in the stamps turned out in the Fourteenth street establishment. In the matter of mass production, the results are all that could possibly be desired. But if the Bureau of Efficiency will consult the Department of Commerce, with the view to developing an adhesive compound that will make a stamp stick, the stamplicking public will be very grateful. The Bureau of Efficiency should postpone giving advice to governmental agencies on the subject of efficiency until it has accomplished the the American people—the production of a postage stamp that will stick.

INDUSTRIAL PEACE IN BRITAIN.

"The common objects which bind us are more powerful than the apparently divergent in terests which seem to separate us." In that of a truth, tantamount almost to a truism, the recognition of which some decades ago would have saved the people of Great Britain great to restore British industry to its pristine pride of place. The sentence in question is quoted from the invitation of British employers, reprearom the invitation of British employers, repre-senting a total capital of more than $5,000,-000,000, to British trade-unionists to attend a joint conference for the discussion of industrial peace. The council of the Trade Union Congress, not entirely convinced of the sincerity of the employers' motive, accepted the invitation with the time-honored British safeguarding phrase, "without prejudice," but showed, nevertheless, that business was meant by appointing a committee to consider the subjects to be brought before the projected conference.

With some of the employers, in view of their historic attitude toward organized labor, it must have gone hard to agree to the admissions made in their name by the Federation of British Industries and the council of the National Confederation of Employers, but they are now and henceforward irrevocably committed to the principle that industrial prosperity is attainable only by a full and frank determination to increase the competitive powers of British industry in world markets, and to its inevitable corollary of a corresponding improvement in the standard of living.

That a high rate of production, with high wages and reasonable hours of work, is at the base of industrial prosperity has long been freely admitted in theory and given effect to in practice in this country, and the present attitude of British capital and labor may be regarded as being largely the result of the reports of the various observers who came recently from England, Scotland and Wales to note the industrial processes and methods in vogue in the United States.

The British conference will probably be held in February next, and its decision, whatever it may be, can scarcely fail to be both momentous and memorable.

ERUPTIONS AND EARTHQUAKES.

Dr. Akitune Imamura, the leading seismologist of the Far East, who is regarded by some scientists as the best authority in the world, has predicted a violent and possibly disastrous eruption of the volcano Vesuvius before long. Since the explosion of the crater in 1906, he points out, lava has been creeping slowly upward toward the rim until now it has reached the 1905 level. This is dangerous, Dr. Imamura says, and although he qualifies his forecast with the phrase, "We can not always be right in predicting the eccentricities of nature," he warns the dwellers on the slopes of Vesuvius to beware.

They, of course, will pay no attention to the warning. They never have. After every eruption, before the smoking lava has become cool, these peasants have swarmed back over the mountain side, digging out their homes and rebuilding on the same site whenever possible. During the years, one would think that they would learn to dread the smoking crater. Home ties, however, are stronger than fear.

Dr. Imamura claims that the day is not far distant when science will be able to predict with certainty the coming of a seismic disturbance. Before any large quake occurs, a noticeable strain of the earth crust is likely to take place. This was observed in the vicinity of the Tajima earthquake of 1925. If those who dwell in regions subject to quakes could have warnings and would heed them, many lives might be saved; but if they are like the peasants who dwell on the sides of Vesuvius, the warnings would do little good.

KEEP OUT OF THE MALL.

The District Commissioners, replying to a letter from the Treasury Department in regard to surrender of the land upon which the farmers' market is located, characterize the matter as now resting solely in the hands of Con-The Commissioners' recommendations have been made, they said, and pending action by Congress nothing further can be done in the matter.

In one respect it is fortunate that the ques tion has been brought to a focal point. The Treasury letter made the demand that the entire plot be surrendered immediately, instead of the portion first demanded. With the Treasury clamoring for land so that its building operations can be continued without interruption, additional leverage is placed behind Congress which should hasten its consideration and disposition of the matter.

It would be most unfortunate, however, were Congress to adopt the Commiss suggestion that the market be located temporarily in the Mall. Washington and the Nation demand that that parkway be no further The lessons learned during the war-that temporary structures once located on public property are most difficult subsequently to remove-are deeply imbedded in the public mind. A market, with the litter it invariably brings, does not properly belong in a public park.

There seems to be little reason why the market should be temporarily located. The plea that commission houses and produce markets must be located in close proximity is well made. Which, however, is horse and which is Why would it not follow that once the market were established, commission houses would be attracted to it? Let the market be placed on a permanent site. Merchants will attend to their own interests.

The proposal to remove the market twice is uneconomic and unwise. The $55,000 involved in the temporary removal can be used to good

THE DEMOCRACY OF WEALTH.

The latest reports from New York indicate that the great corporations will declare extra dividends this year amounting to something like $400.000.000. This huge surplus repre sents the year's profits over and above all fixed charges, including regular dividends All of this sum is distributed by a few of the largest corporations. It is impossible to compute what the smaller ones will give out.

It is a significant fact that in nearly all of the great corporations of today a large part of both common and preferred stock is split up into little blocks ranging from five to wenty shares. They are often held by people in very humble circumstances. In very few cases, if any, does the majority of dividends revert to one individual, or even to one lo-

This democratization of business is, perhaps the most wholesome and encouraging sign of the times. One has but to hark back to the beginning of the century when Roosevelt inaugurated his fambus era of "trust-busting" to realize the extent of the change. No longer feudalism. Slowly but surely, the control of the sources of industrial wealth is passing in-It is well to recall this at the end of a year of peace and prosperity.

It's Natural to Worry About the Dog.

Washington's Churches

To the Editor of The Post-Sir: Announcement of plans to construct a national Presbyterian church in Washington, at a cost of $5,000,000, is most welcome news. The structure, to follow in general the Spanish Gothic type of architecture, will be built at the corner of Connecticut avenue and Calhas been already started to raise the Hateful Espionage.

To the Editor of The Post-Sir: Those who believe that all the laws should be supported and enforced uniformly will take heart from the flood cently issued to gas meter readers in Providence, R. I., in which they were instructed to keep their eyes open for violation in private homes. The press clergy, legislators and the public gen erally have organized a strong and inthat the forthcoming session of the legislature will pass an act prohibiting this or similar espionage.

It is said, further, that there was no intent to empower the meter read-They were expected only to act as "good report to the loca enforcement officers any evidence of law breaking. One may well wonder by what right the president of any corporation orders his employes to act as spies. No citizen is in duty bound to obey such orders. The idea of esplonage for any purpose is hateful to Americans.

Gossip

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE use of profanity, reprehensible though it may be, does not neces sarily indicate a depraved nature. It indicates only a poverty of words. A man employs a profane expletive because he lacks the vocabulary adequately to express his consternation, wonderment or rage.

The mule driver's profanity is eloquent beyond description. In the easy flow of his delivery is chagrin, irritation, condemnation, sarcasm, intolerance, and a most surprising encouragement. Yet one in another walk of life who uses swear words spasmodically and without sufficient enter animals when we die, the slain provocation confesses lack of acquaintance with his dictionary.

So one whose normal conversation begins and ends with remarks concerning the neighbors or other persons not present does not reveal a natural or reasonable interest in the persons discussed, but only a lack of other and greater interests. If a man's interest in the world he inhabits does not extend beyond the peculiarities and frailties of his fellows, he has missed the better part of existence.

There are many things in the world worthy of study. There are books worth reading-hobbies worth cultivating-charities worth attention. These are for persons whose minds have grown beyond the level of backfence exchange of personalities.

If you are tracing the influence of a prince through the century that dear young thing can see exactly what's followed his brief reign, you are little interested in the rumor that the in it at a distance of 30 feet. neighbor frequently upbraids his wife in riotous language.

Effort to understand the treaty that made an end of the world's greatest war makes puerile an effort to understand how the neighbor's wife can afford so many new dresses.

When you begin to understand that the universe extends beyond the next corner and even beyond the city limits, you lose an officious interest of protests resulting from an order re- in the affairs of the people next door. After all, the gossip is merely an adult tongue working for a child track the proposal to evolve a hard and fast rule to be followed in all cases until a future meeting.

INDICTED SCHOOL MAN REINSTATED BY BOARD

Miss Mary Sheads, principal of the Bryan School, and Miss Margaret Murray, a teacher, were cited for bravery shown during the tornado. November 17. This action was taken upon recommendation of the Bryan Parent-Teacher Association.

Dr. Ballou was loud in his praise of Miss Sheads who, at the risk of injury, ran into the street during the height of the tornado and carried back to the school two children who had fied from their classes, hysterical. Miss Murray was praised for her quick action and fortitude in calming the children in her class in a portable building when the storm and high winds ripped off part of the roof and blew in windows.

The board approved the suggestion of the Engineer Commissioner, Col. Ladue. for calling a conference between school officials and District officials for the purpose of discussing general school questions and promoting greater cooperation between the two bodies. Upon recommendation of Dr. Ballou, the board members disapproved of the recommendations of officials of the Bureau of Efficiency for the establishment of a system of property accountability in the schools. The system, as proposed by the Bureau of Efficiency officials, would require all teachers and clerks to account for the disposition of every supply used in the schools. The chief objection to the plan was that the system would place the teachers in a classification of property clerks instead of instructors.

Three fraternities and sororities to be established in the high school: the Sigma Tau Lambda fraternity, of Central High School, and the Alpha Theta Chi sorority, of Central High School: The board accepted eight scholarships offered by the X. M. C. A.

"The Board of Education should not go on the theory that a man is guilty of a crime simply because he has been indicted." Gilligan said in defense of his recommendations that the suspension of Henderson be lifted.

Dr. Ballou declared the action of the board in lifting the suspension of Henderson pending his trial had left him bewildered as to what course to pursue in the future in connection with the recommendation of suspension of employes who happen to be indicted. The board members decided to side-track the proposal to evolve a hard and fast rule to be followed in all cases until a future meeting.

AMERICAN FINANCE IS RESERVE REPORT

by $796,000,000: Less on Commercial Credit.

ACCEPTANCE MARKET ALSO REFLECTS GAINS

Gold Exports Are Noted as $130,000,000 During Last Three Months of Year.

The American world of finance was more active during the last year in ransaction of securities than in com-nercial business, the Federal Reserve Board reported yesterday in a review of 1927 covering operating of the Fed-eral reserve system.

while commercial credit decreased by $230,000,000 loans on securities in-creased by $796,000,000, reflecting the increased use of credit by the security markets.

"This decline in commercial loans,' the board said, "reflects the somewhat smaller volume of production and trade in 1927, compared with 1926 and the lower level of prices at which business has been transacted.

Bank Credit Growing.

"During recent weeks banking developments have been characterized by a continued growth in the outstanding volume of bank credit. Commercial loans have been declining slightly since the middle of October, when they reached $21,500,000,000 in November reached $21,500,000,000 in November and was larger than in any previous month. Since November of last year this amount has increased by 7.4 per cent, compared with an increase of about 2.2 per cent in the year ending in November, 1926, and 5.5 per cent a in November, 1926, and 5.5 per cent a year earlier.

"Thus the growth in the volume of member bank credit in leading cities has been larger during the past year than in either of the two preceding years, though not as large as in the year ending November, 1924, when it was 12.4 per cent.

"The rapid growth of member bank ending November, 1924, when it was 12.4 per cent.

"The rapid growth of member bank credit this year has not been due to an increase in so-called 'all other loans,' which comprise loans for commercial, agricultural and industrial purposes, as well as real estate loans. That loans extended to trade and industry had actually declined during the year is indicated by figures of loans and investments for all member banks, which have recently become available for June 30, 1926 and 1927.

"During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1927, member banks of the Federal Reserve system showed a large increase his beautiful productions of classical dramas, reproduced the scenes of Calvary for the DeMille Biblical film, "The King of Kings," working under Mitchell Leisen, the art director. This reproduction of Golgotha, or Calvary, is said to be the largest exterior ever photographed within a studio "The King of Kings" is showing at the National Theater. From the top of Golgotha the towers and turrets of Zion can be seen across the intervening valley. "Rose-Marie" returns to Poli's Theater for one week only, beginning Sunday evening December 25, with holiday matinee on Monday and Saturday.

The melodic score by Rudolf Frimi and Herbert Stothart features "The Indian Love Call," "Rose-Marie," "The Door of My Dreams" and that stirring march song of the "Mounties." "Rose-Marie," unlike most musical comedies, has a well-told dramatic story. Interest is sustained. The play is surcharged with comedy.

Principals include Beulah Berson, Paul Donah, Hazel Gaudreau, Charles Meakins, Peggy Pates, Houston Richards, Daisy Gibson, Sano Marco, Ross Gibson and Neil Moore.

erve system showed a large increas in investments and in loans on securi-ties and an increase of $276,000,000 in ties and an increase of $276,000,000 in real estate loans.

"That the increase in loans on securities has reflected largely the increased use of credit by the security markets is indicated by the fact that loans to brokers and dealers in securities placed by the weekly reporting member banks in New York City increased by $826,000.000 during the year ending in November.

"Another part of the open market which has reflected the growth of avail-able short-time funds in New York has rates on the London market, and the London market, and this country's exports which was financed by dollar acceptances rather than by sterling acceptances.

National Savings Large.

"The abundance of funds available for investment in private enterprises which has characterized the past year, has been due chiefly to the large volume of national savings, but has been augmented by the retirement of the public debt, which has characterized the past year, astion into the investment market.

"During the past three months the novement of gold has been reversed nd partly through exports and partly through exports an augmented by the retrement of the public debt, which has had the effect of placing funds collected through taxation into the investment market.

"During the past three months the movement of gold has been reversed and partly through exports and partly through earmarking for foreign accounts there has been a considerable decrease in the country's monetary gold. This loss of gold and the increased reserve requirements of member banks have been the principle influence causing the increased demand for reservebank credit. The country's stock of monetary gold decreased by over $130,-000.000 during the last three months and on the 1st of December was lower than at any time for more than a year."

Farm Cooperative Progress Reported

Cooperative farming organizations are abandoning schemes for arbitrary price fixing, and are adopting efficient business practices which have proven their worth in profitable results. Christensen, in charge of the division of cooperative marketing of the Department of Agriculture, reported yesterday on his return from a field investigation of cooperative bodies.

"Cooperative managers, directors and leading growers, instead of admiring the beauties of cooperation," he said, "are turning their attention to its problems, such as financing, selling, management, better grading and standardization and getting a quality product to market."

If conditions unfavorable to a conference exist next year, it is pointed out the President would most certainly not call one for the few months he will be in office in 1929. Such a conference no more disarmament conferences insofar as President Coolidge is concerned. There has been no White House discussion of the time limit or the suspension clause, so it is but a matter of conjecture as to just what the President did have in mind in either suggesting these two features or approving them after they had been initiated in other quarters. It is well known, though, that he has studiously tried to dissipate any thought in the public mind that this country contemplated any naval race with any other country. He does not want its naval building any naval race with any other country. He does not want its naval building plan linked in any way with the failure of the Geneva conference.

Thus it may have been, it is pointed out, that he thought it best for this reason that no definite time in which the program should be carried out should be stipulated and also that the program contain a clause leaving it.

when and it the building should be halted.

The program is the largest but one, it is explained, that has ever been considered by Congress. Naturally, it will be opposed by the small navy people, as well as by the pacifists. The two controversial features may well have been designed to deal with the view of these groups, it is pointed out.

This being true, it may well be that there will now be no serious objection from the White House to the setting of a time limit and the elimination of the suspension clause. Especially might this be true, in view of the fact that the program, constituted as it is.

five-year program which would lap over a nine-year period for its completion. That being the case he probably would not object to the original bill authorizing the program specifying that this be done.

It is expected that there will be some effort on the part of the big navy men to get appropriations for additional building at this session, but it is known that the administration will take a firm stand against this. There are appropriations for work on eight cruisers in the pending budget and the President has made known that he does not look with favor on any appropriations for vessels not already authorized.

YOUR BOY AND YOUR GIRL

By ARTHUR DEAN, SC. D. The Parent Counselor

Folks, Listen to this Girl.

Think of being three people all in one day! A girl wth a physiological age of 13 and fully capable of understanding the play and emotional life of children of that age; a rid with the mental age and ability of a sophomore in a college for women allied to the largest university in affects, a girl with a "listening in" age accumulated all through her life by her intimate associations with her mother and the friends of the family That's the situation in which Elizabeth Benson finds herself. She sees young people behind, beside and in front of her. She sees, at one extreme, the child that has not arrived at flapper age and, at the other, the woman of 40 who does not know she's out of the romantic picture. Her recent book. "The Younger Generation," will be read by her "calendar age" friends with wonderment at what it's all about; by her classmates with uproars of approval; and by all the rest of the folks with a mixture of balted breaths, despair, prayers, misgivings and hilarity.

She gives us the "low down" and to many this is just the right phrase on beys and girls who mix gasoline with gin. To her a necking party is a biological experiment; revolts of youth are merely attempts to seek new toys. If age is both dangerous and sacred she him at home until he is five. Then

The most pleasant possible Christmas gift for an intimate friend is a plece of beautifully made lingerie. But smart lingerie, like smart frocks, must be simple in line. It may be trimmed and it may be intricately cut, but the general effect of the silhouette is slim. This point is well illustrated by the step-in chemises sketched on the figure. The bodice fits closely, the drawers are pleated on to the bodice so that there is a slim line at the hips and fullness below. It is cut long enough to serve as a slip as well as a chemise. To make it, you need cut only four pieces, 25 you may see by the pattern at the right. The only trimming is a wide band of lace at the top and narrow bands of the same lace that edge the drawers.

The lace at the top may do double duty, first, as trimming for the chemise; second, as an effective vest for a V-necked frock, for today the little georgette vest that used to be sold with such frocks is nonexistent. The most beautiful laces for lingerie are of course, real Binche and Valenciennes. These are classics, and the woman who owns pieces of such lace can use them I have a healthy, normal boy of 4 years and 7 months. Should I send him to school or is it too early to start and why?

You do not know how I dread these arguments. Even when I am not enshed in them I often am quite thred out after school and housework and then to have to hear all the fussing back and forth. And such things they can argue about—the aunts and uncles I have never even seen, and whose partits had the most education, and over and over and over. I would die of shame if my friends could know how they go on. I am shamed to have a lazy mother. And I im ashamed to see her standing out front talking about the neighbors, when my brothers haven't a clean shirt, to wear to school. I wash handkerchiefs most every night. Our clothes hang tround unironed from week to week if I don't do them. Daddy gets so disgusted. Then sometimes he starts swearing. I don't blame him. than average, should bid one No Trump.

North, with a Major two-suiter, can be thoroughly assured that it will be better to play the hand at the Major suit which fits the South hand than at No Trump. North therefore bids two Spades, the stronger of his two five-card Majors; if the Spade and Heart strength had been reversed, North would have bid the Hearts first.

would have bid the Heats first.

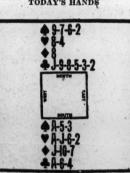

South having only two Spades—but one of them the Queen—has a close choice between passing and a No Trump rebid. If he surely had the Clubs stopped twice, there would be no question—the two No Trumps would be much sounder; but with only one sure stopper in Clubs, the case is somewhat doubtful. However, South is so strong in both Hearts and Diamonds and needs so little in Clubs from North to stop the suit twice (a Jack for instance), that two No Trumps seemed to be advisable. South having only two Spades, it may be that one of the adversaries will turn up with four and that the No Trump will work better than the Spade.

North then should bid three Hearts. His Hearts are not strong; but he has five and his partner, by bidding and rebidding the No Trump, has twice shown strength in Hearts. With North's Hearts, it is a practical certainty that Hearts will work better than No Trump for the combined hands.

North's Hearts fits South's hand and, with the Clubs stopped only once, South should pass; it would be foolish or him to go back to No Trumps.

TODAY'S HANDS

The question is how South (Dealer) and North (his partner) should bid these hands, it being supposed that their opponents (West and East) pass whenever it is their turn to declare.

SHALLI ACKNOWLEDGE CARDS?

My husband and I receive a great many Christmas cards. I suppose this is because he is a clergyman and his parishoners think they should show their appreciation of his services in this way, among others.
I always wonder if I should acknowledge them all. It seems as if some appreciation should be shown, and yet have, honestly, not the time to give to so many notes. What would you do?

This question has come up before, and I see no better way of answering it than I did then. I should, if I were in a semioficial position and received a great many cards, make two lists, one of the people to whom, when we met them. I or my husband might remember to say: "Thank you so much for the pretty card you sent us;" and another list of the people who were very old, or poor, or to whom, in some way, It meant a real effort to send a card, and who would be pleased out of proportion to have a written word of thanks.

I try, myself, to keep in mind the people who usually send me cards. To the few whom I think look forward to receiving them. I send cards in my turn; cards which I pick up at some shop on which I write a message in my own hand. When I meet any one who has sent me a Christmas greeting, I say, "Thank you," and I mean it, for i am grateful, but I never write easily defeat its own object and become a nulsance, it considered too soriously.

But for clergymen, doctors, men in politics, and their wives, the matter is slightly different. They deal with all sorts and conditions of people and must consider the attitude of those whose feelings are more easily hurt than the feelings of worldings are.
I shouldn't expect a letter in return for a card. On the other land, if she had sent me a card, I would

New York Dec. 21 (A.P.).—The cotton market was quiter today. Ratner irregular fluctuations were attributed largely to evening up of accounts in preparation for the approaching holidays. After selling off early to 19.00. January railled to 19.22, but later eased off to 18.96, closing at that figure. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 15 to 22 points.

The market opened steady at a decidne of 1 to 8 points and sold about 13 to 15 points net lower in early trading under realizing by recent buyers. There was also Southern and local selling, inspired by relatively brisk Liverpool cables and beliet that recent railies had eased the market's technical baction.

Demand improved around 19.00 for January and 19.30 for May, and after early offerings had been absorbed the market turned upward on trade buying and covering. This demand sent prices up to 19.55 for May, or about 20 to 25 points from the low levels, and 7 to 10 points net higher, probably promoted by reiterated reports of a steady spot situation in the South and a more favorable view of the cotton goods markets. Demand tapered off at the advance, the market easing later under pre-holiday liquidation. Prices reached the lowest levels of the day in late trading, when January sold at 18.96 and May at 19.30, or 15 to 19 points net lower.

and May at 19.30, or 15 to 19 points net lower.

There was some Southern selling here during the day, but the bulk of the pressure was attributed to realizing or iquidation by recent buyers who were inclined to even up their commitments before Christmas. General business was quiet during the day, with the market correspondingly sensitive to comparatively small orders either way.

Private cables said there had been hedge selling and liquidation in the Liverpool market, with offerings ab-

CURB MARKET REVIEW.

New York, Dec. 21 (A.P.).—Irregularity again rules the curb market today, with most of the important changes toward lower ground. Liquidation probably was in reflection of selling on the big board which followed the advance in call money to 4½ per cent. lowed the advance in the law 14% per cent.

Most of the recent favorites were subjected to hasty profit taking, losses of 1 to 3 points or more being sustained by Borden, Fansteel Products. Johns Marville, Lehigh Valley Coal Sales, U. S. Freight and U. S. Gypsum.

DRILL HARD ON COAST

All-Stars and Penn Point for Games Next Week.

AN FRANCISCO, Calif., Dec. 21 (A.P.).—Eastern football stars dug their cleats into Western soil to-and got down to steady practice intersectional games to be played this section within the next two weeks.

The University of Pennsylvania Team, 34 strong, and accompanied by a party of more than a hundred, arrived at Berkeley for the contest with California, December 31. After finding quarters, Coach Lou Young sent his men through a light afternoon workout to unlimber train-stiffened muscles. All of the men reported in good condition. Beginning tomorrow Coach Young plans rigorous workouts in Memorial Stadium at the University of California.

California chalked up a heav practice in the morning with Coach "Nibs" Price drilling his squad in tactics intended to break up or check the spectacular passing game of the visitors.

In, San Francisco, Coach Andy Kerr sent his ail-East team through formations for an hour and a half this morning and described it as the best workout the players have had since their arrival. Kerr stressed heavily on a backfield composed of Joesting, Minnesota; Caldwell, Yale; Presnell, Nebraska, and Amos, Washington and Jefferson, indicating these luminaries would start in the charity game December 26 against the all-West team.

Coach Orin E. ("Babe") Hollingberry, had western squad, put his men through a strenuous drill in the atternoon with Meeker, Washington State, and Kutsch, Lowa, alternating at quarter back. Kaer, Southern California, and Hunt, Texas Aggies, half backs, and Wilson, Washington, full back, Both Kerr and Hollingberry had their men throwing long passes during the practice with Amos, East quarter back, opening the eves of a few spectators, Kaer, Southern California, and Hunt, Texas Aggies, half backs, and Wilson, Washington, full back. Both Kerr and Hollingberry had their men throwing long passes during the practice with Amos, East quarter back, opening the eyes of a few spectators, with 40 and 45 yard tosses.

Led by William Spears, all-American candidate for quarter back from Vanderbilt University, a great collection of football stars from Dixie took their first workout on California soil at the Collseum here today.

Forty players, chaperoned by the "big three" of Southern coaches, Dan McGugin, of Vanderbilt; Wallace Wade, of Alabama, and Ben Alexander, of Georgia Tech, arrived here last night. They will oppose a team of picked senior players from Pacific Coast institutions, led by Bill Spaulding, of the University of California, at Los Angeles; Howard Jones, of the University of Southern California, and Enoch Bagshaw, of Washington, here Christmas Day.

Cochran's Rally Fails and Title Is Lost, 1,500 to 1,034.

N EW YORK, Dec. 21 (A.P.).—Jake Schaefer, of Chicago, son of the "old wizard" of the same name, tonight won the world's 18.2 balk line billiard crown when he defeated the champion, Welker Cochran, in a 1,500-point title match, 1,500 to 1,304.

Although he won the title, Schaefer was outplayed by Cochran in the final block, the challenger ran out his final 300 to the title.

Cochran staged a courageous uphill battle in the final block showing a complete reversal of the poor form he had shown in the first four blocks.

Trailing by 447 points when Schaefer stepped to the table for the last block, the champion clustered two strings of 97 and 128 in his first two innings. The chal-lenger matched these two runs with clusters of 42 and 161 to hold his lead at the end of the second in-ning, 1,403 to 978.

Schaefer's victory marks the third time he has won the 18.2 balk-line crown. He held the title in 1921 and again in 1925.

The inning scores for the last block: Schaefer, 42, 161, 52, 0, 23, 4, 2, 16—300—500. Cochran, 97, 128, 16, 7, 196, 56, 51—551—

1,304.

In the fourth block, played this afternoon, Schaefer had little trouble winning, 300 to 163. It brought out mediocre play by both contestants. Schaefer's best run was 71, while the champion, even further off form than in the previous blocks, could cluster only 39 for his high string.

The block required fourteen innings. Spreading in West

Reilly Sells Services of Light-Heavy Boxer to Joe Jacobs.

Pegler Intimates That Two Managers Did Some Business.

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

By WESTBROOK FEGLER.

New YORK, Dec. 21.—Mr. Pete Reilly, proprietor of Jack Delaney, former light heavyweight champlon of the world, startled the cauliflower market this afternoon with the announcement that he had sold his gentleman to Mr. Joe Jacobs, former proprietor of Mike McTigue, for $50,000 cash, throwing in a lightweight gentleman named Sammy Vogel for good measure.

nose-rings on Mr. Delaney and Mr. Vogel.

After the first surprise of the announcement had worn of, members of the cauliflower trade were inclined to suspect that Mr. Reilly and Mr. Jacobs were merely doing some business. It was suggested that somebody might be pressing Mr. Reilly for some-money and that he had merely transferred his gentlemen to other ownership under the impression that they constituted attachable chattels.

Mr. Reilly purchased Delaney four years ago for $900 but later released him, only to buy him back reiesed him, only to buy him back about three years ago from Mr. Frank Marlowe, who did not think Delaney was much improved and knocked him down for $15,000. Since then Delaney has earned more than $300,000 gross and Rellly has taken a respectable managerial share, presumably 33 per cent.

Only Monday, Mr. Reilly called at the New Garden soliciting fights for Delaney, who is now on the decline after a picturesque career. Therefore Mr. Reilly's decision to retire seems to have been quite sudden.

Mr. Jacobs is the Jewish manager who once took McTigue, an Irish Catholic down to Columbus, Ga., to fight Willie Stribling, a native son, and was invited to select any two trees in town. one for himself and one for McTigue.

"Trees?" Mr. Jacobs said, "why should I wish that I should have trees?"

"Because," the committee advised him, "if your gentleman should chance to beat our native son, we will call for you promptly at the ringside, and we shall then hang you from your tree and Mr. McTigue from his tree."

"Oh," said Mr. Jacobs, "in that case, I will just select a modest tree. Please get me something about four feet high and, if convenient, pick out a small shrub for my gentleman, too. However, I would like to insist that whatever you do, you give him the larger one because we always divide everything on a basis of 66 2-3 per cent to him and 33 1-3 per cent to me.

"And, furthermore," Mr. Jacobs

"And, furthermore," Mr. Jacobs said, "do you think you could find a rubber tree for me—something that will bend easy? All my life I have thought that if anybody ever wished to give me a tree I would like to have a rubber tree."

Mr. McTigue appears tove protested about this procedure. "This isn't arbor day," he said to Mr. Jacobs. "No," Mr. Jacobs replied, "but I think it must be wash day. Anyway they wish to hang us. So if convenient, I wish you would let the Stribling boyhit you a light slap in the screamer and fall down insensible."

Mr. McTigue so timid, however, that whenever .tribling struck at him he ran around the ring and onsequently he found no legitimate excuse for failing insensible. So, at the end of the contest, with the committee waiting at the ringside, Mr. Harry Ertle, of Jersey City, who had been imported to referee for McTigue, decided that "hommittee would be satisfied with a draw.

Like Eddie Collins, Gordon Cochrane and other famous stars, Reese played under an assumed name in his first year in baseball. He performed with Tupelo under the name of T. B. Bynum. JEFFERSON PARK ENTRIES.

HAVANA RESULTS.

THE first signs of spring were seen here yesterday, not in the form of the usual robin but in an announcement made by President Clark Griffith, of the Nationals, that he had received the signed contracts of two young southpaw hurlers, Bobby Burke and Lloyd Andrew Brown.

The latter's letter was received first, this, President Griffith states, indicating that Brown will have a good season. "In my experience, covering several years," Griffith averred, "the first player to sign his contract with a club always has made good."

Brown First in Fold;

Salary Cuts Due.

If this proves true in Brown's case, then the Nationals surely will have a select group of port-siders next year. Burke despite his lack of heft, did yeoman service with the Harrismen last season, "fronmanning" to the extent of breaking into the line-up on 36 occasions.

went on the right side of one of his mates' ledgers.

The other southpaws on the Washington roster are more or less veterals. Garland Braxton, who pressed Fred Marberry for honors as the league's best relief hurler, had seen previous service with the Yankees. Ed Wells was with the Tigers for some time, while every one knows that Tom Zachary is no spring chicken.

Brown's record with Memphis last season gives him a chance of making good in the majors, even if Griffith's line of reasoning fails. He started the season as wild as a March hare, but at about the half-way mark, suddenly began locating the plate and finished with a rush. His final record was seventeen victories and nine defeats.

President Griffith has not started trying to sign up any of his regulars and does not expect to send out these contracts until after New Years. With 38 on his reserve list and several of his high-priced stars likely to have their annual stipends reduced, the Nat owner's job is not an enviable one. Manager Harris is in the fold as a hold-over, leaving Griffith 3 up and 35 more to go.

Fisher Leads in 37-17 Triumph of Team in Afternoon.

ENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL Basketers were victorious in two games yesterday. Last night, in the pre-liminary to the George Washington-Bridgewater College contest in the Colonials' gymnasium, they defeated the George Washington Freshman combination, 33 to 15, while in the afternoon, on their own floor, they trounced the Woodward School Five, 37-17.

In both contests Coach Cogglins' men outclassed their opponents. Against the Colonial yearlings they displayed a great offensive and scored almost at will, leading 18 to 6 at the half. The Yearlings showed lack of practice, and on many occasions left their goal unguarded, and the High players took advantage of this situation time and again. ENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL Basketer

Bill Woodward, with 11 points, led both teams, with Burgess and Colley each adding 8 points to the Central total. The young Colonials caged but seven scrimmage goals, and four of these were credited to Alexander, tap-off man, who easily starred for the losers.

NAVY BEATS CITY LEAGUE The Sportswoman

> Nose Out Clovers and Marines.

I N as two of the most thrilling games played in the Marine Barracks gymnasium this season, the Knights of Columbus and Wolts fives won over the Marine Barracks and the Clover quintets last night in a Washington City League doubleheader. The margin of victory was only a single point in each contest, the scores of both games being 23 to 22.

A spectacular long shot by David Keppel, diminutive K. C. forward, in the last 30 seconds of play, snatched victory from the Marine five, which, by a brilliant spurt in the final half, had overcome the Caseys' 20-14 lead at half-time. Farrell and King also figured prominently in the K. C. triumph.

Jumping into the lead at the out-set, on baskets by Melton and Sweeney, the Woltz team squeezed out a win over the fighting Clover team.

The presence of Smith in the Clover line-up bolstered the offense consid-erably, while Harrington and Woodward were the bulwarks of the winner's de-fense in the latter stages. Woodward and Melton, of the Woltz

Toronto Pays $15,000

For Hub Hockey Star Boston, Dec. 21 (A.P.).—The much rumored sale of Jim Herberts became an established fact today with the announcement that the star spare forward of the Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League had been sold to the Toronto Maple Leafs for $15,000 cash. The Bruins also acquired rights to the services of Eric Pittenger, center, of the Fort William Canadian Amateur Club, a finalist with the Toronto graduates in last season's Alian Cup series.

That the sale may have been somewhat of a disciplinary measure was seen in the statement of President Charles F. Adams, president of the Bruins in announcing the deal.

Carmichael to Lead 1928 Indian Gridmen

Williamsburg, Va., Dec. 21.—W. E. ("Fets") Carmichael, for two years premier tackle on the William and Mary Football Team, was elected 1928 captain by the varsity letter men at the annual banquet held in the college refectory here tonight.

Eighteen men were granted the varsity monogram for football this year and it was by their vote that Carmichael will lead the Indian gridders next season. Two campaigns have seen the giant Bostonian perform as a star in the William and Mary line, a fact that has made him one of Virginia's best linemen.

Carmichael received his prep training at Dean Academy, in Massachusetts. He entered William and Mary last year and made the varsity team in his first year. Although he was playing on an experienced team that made one of the best records ever turned in by an Indian aggregation, Carmichael was one of its stars and his stellar performance continued through this season, when dian aggregation, Carmichael was one of its stars and his stellar performance continued through this season, wher he was recognized as one of the State's best tackles by selection on the Team Must Develop Fast to Retain S. A. Honors.

A TLANTA, Dec. 21 (A.P.).—Vander-bilt University's chances of retaining the Southern Conference basketball crown lifted from the brow of the North Carolina Tarheels, how has the "wise ones" guessing as the cage season gets under way.

Only two regulars of the title squad, Frank Bridges and Dave Baker, are returned.

Frank Bridges and Dave Baker, are re-turned.

Both are forwards. Then, there re-main Vernon Sharp, substitute center and John Thomas, a utility forward. Sharp, a football star who is now with the senior team at Los Angeles, shows promise of capably filling one of the guard positions.

The place worrying the coachin staff is the center position, vacate by Jim Stuart, one of the best plw men in the conference last seasor Stuart, Bridges and Baker forme a rapid scoring machine, countin more than 700 points between their prior to the tournament at Atlant which their team won.

Dan Brooks, a senior, and Abernathy, a tackle on the football team, are battling it out for Stuart's place.

Little material graduated from the freshman ranks has been available. Coach William J. Floyd has Roy Gibson, center, and Jesse James, a guard, as other candidates in addition to four players from the "frosh" squad of last season.

season.
Floyd stepped into the head coaching duties of the basketball squad when Josh Cody left the institution to go to Clemson. He is an alumnus of Vanderbilt and before going to Vanderbilt and before going to Vanderbilt developed several successful prep school teams.

Gradually the Clevelanders pulled away as the second half grew older. Vic Hanson, former Syracuse star, dribbled through and around the Palace defense and gathered four baskets. Husta made two and Hickey and Delkhan each made a single field goal. Red Conaty's two field goals provided Washington's scoring feature for the second period.

It was not until the time signal flashed above the 3-minute mark, however, that Cleveland's victory was assured. Then Nat Hickey's field goal, running the count to 31-26, gave the locals a safe margin.

late in the second quarter, despite a hurt ankle, snatched the victory for his team with a brilliant goal in the last two minutes of play, after his successful foul toss had tied the score at 13 to 13. Capt. Goodson is the same player, who converted sure defeat into a victory in the final seconds of play in the memorable Catholic University battle last year.

Except for the fact that the teams endeavored to shoot the ball through the nets, last night's contest little resembled a basketball game, and to a spectator, coming upon the scene after the battle was on, it might have been easily mistaken for a friendly indoor lacrosse game, or a novel grappling space where "legal", holding characters.

Market Receives $130,000,-000 New Issues; Peruvian Loan Oversubscribed.

New York, Dec. 21 (A.P.).—The aperance on the market of around $130,000,000 in new bonds, combined with predictions in some quarters of hardening of time money rates around regularity in the bond market today regularity in the bond market today. The continued high demand for investments, however, was reflected in the prompt over subscription of the $50,000,000 Peruvian 6 per cent loan and the $42,000,000 Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Co. 5½s, reported by the offering syndicates.

Several important new issues are expected in the remaining days of 1927, including $31,000,000 New York, New Haven & Hartford 4½s to be offered tomorrow at prices to yield about 5 per cent.

Trading in some of the leading rail-road issues reached formidable proportions, but price changes were nominal. Andes Copper 7s dropped more than 2 points on early morning realizing, but later made up all but a small fraction of the loss. New York Railway income 6s again advanced about a point.

Italian issues continued their firm tendency, which may have been based upon unconfirmed reports that a credit is being arranged in this and other countries for the purpose of stabilizing the lire. Other foreign bonds were irregular and not especially active.

Nearly $500,000 in Treasury 3/4s changed hands, the price rising to 10727-32, or within a small fraction of the record high. Otherwise there was little of interest in the Government group, although prices generally had a firm tender.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Dec. 21 (A.P.).—Active buying of sorn developed today, and the market rallied from an early setback. Export bids for corn were at the highest premium so far this season, and estimates were current that Europe will require 68,000,000 bushels of corn from the United States between now and next summer.

Corn closed irregular, at ½c net decline to ½c advance, with wheat unchanged to ¼c lower, oats ¼c to ¼ to ½c off, and provisions varying from 10 ½c at states took a downward swing today, largely as a result of liberal receipts in the Southwest, Kansas City arrivals especially being far acove the coresponding to the summer of the summ switch to the opposite side of the market.

Late upturns in corn values were helped along by announcement that export bids for corn at the Gulf of Mexico had risen to a basis of 2 cents a bushel over Chicago May, and that Argentina has only 23,000,000 to 24,-000,000 bushels left for shipment to other countries. A decided improvement of cash demand for domestic corn soon became noticeable, with Southwestern points making sales to a wide territory. Meanwhile, too, Atlantic ports as well as the Gulf of Mexico advised of business with Europe at prices likely to attract corn from Kansas City and from Omaha as well. More inquiry here from consumers East was likewise in evicence.

Wheat and oats were influenced toward the last by the corn raily, despite weakness shown earlier in the wheat market owing to unlooked for lower quotations at Liverpool and to reports that Afgentine shippers were offering wheat freely abroad. Besides, the United States Government crop report this afternoon as to wheat was expected to make a bearish showing.
On the other hand, pessimistic advices were received as to the condition of

For the most part, provisions were lower, sympathizing with weakeness of the hog market.

NAVY COURT NAMED TO OBTAIN DETAILS OF SINKING OF S-4

Rear Admiral Jackson Selected as President: Sessions to Be Held in Boston.

WILBUR REPORTS NEW EFFORT TO SAVE CREW

Dispatch Says That Gale Has Diminished and That Divers Are Going Down Again.

The court of inquiry on the loss of the submarine S-4 off Provincetown, Mass., Saturday, as the result of a collision with the Coast Guard destroye lision with the Coast Guard destroyer Paulding, was named yesterday by Secretary of the Navy Wibur and will convene at the Boston Navy Yard January 4, or as soon as practicable after that date.

The court is composed of Rear Admiral Richard H. Jackson, its president, who recently came to the Navy general board here from the West Coast, where he commanded the battle fleet: Rear Admiral Julian L. Latimer, commandant of the Fourth Naval District, Philadelphia: Capt. Joseph V. Ogan, Bureau of Navigation, a submarine expert, who commanded the division of V-type of submarines. Commander Leslie E. Bratton, executive officer U. S. S. Antares, train squadron 1, scouting fleet, will be the judge advocate. He formerly was in the office of the judge advocate general, Navy Department.

The court is directed to convene at Department.
The court is directed to convene at ion may be necessary for the purpose of inquiring into all circumstances connected with the loss of the submarine. It will make a thorough investigation into all circumstances connected with the loss, its causes, damages to property, resulting injuries to personnel incidental to it and responsibility. It will include in its findings a full statement of the facts it may deem to be established and will further give opinion as to whether any offenses have been committed or serious blame incurred. If such is found, it will specifically recommend what further proceedings should be had.

Rear Admiral Philip Andrews, commandant of the Boston Navy Yard, is directed to furnish the court the necessary clerical assistance to aid the judge advocate in recording the proceedings.

The court of inquiry to investigate the accident was called by Secretary Wilbur, this being decided following a conference of Rear Admiral E. H. Campbell, judge advocate general of the Navy: Admiral H. A. Wiley, commander in chief of the United States fleet, and Admiral C. F. Hughes, chief of naval operations, with Admiral R. H. Leigh, chief Bureau of Navigation. This change in convening authority was decided because of Admiral Wiley's imminent departure for the West coast. He said no decisions had been made as to additional precautionary measures to avoid repetition of similar accidents and should the court of inquiry evolve any it would present them to the department.

Precepts of the board, he said, would be sufficiently broad to cover any

House Members Urge Steps To Prevent Naval Losses

(Associated Press.)

(Associated Press.)

Already deeply stirred by the pathetic plight of the victims of the S-4 disaster, the House yesterday received two more demands that Congress take steps to prevent the loss of the lives of Navy men in times of peace.

Representative Seger (Republican). New Jersey, offered a resolution to have the House ask the Navy Department to advise Congress as to the safety appliances with which the S-4 was equipped and also whether steps were equipped and also whether steps were being taken to improve such devices for possible future emergencies. The resolution, which was referred to the naval committee, also asked wheth-

vessels, pontoons and other equipment to cope with such emergancies; if it was the practice of the Navy to conduct tests of undersea craft in sea lanes employed in commercial traffic and how many Navy undersea craft had been sunk through collision or disaster since 1918.

After him Divers R. C. (Tug) Wilson and Joseph Eiben went down tothe air line to the listening apparatus This plan involved stripping the rubber insulation from a small brass tube on the submarine.

After the tube had been cut off, it was to be plugged with wood to prevent too much water creeping through. Then one diver was to remove the plug while the other pushed on the rubber hose over the brass end. Commander Ellsberg said very little water would be admitted during these operations. The hitch in this method, the com-

Signals for the return were given at 50 feet. The commander had his eye hard to the periscope. This was the time of danger, at which the S-4 had been wrecked by collision with a ship on the surface. Widow of Lieut. Weller

Meets the Wife of Fitch

Boston, Dec. 21 (A.P.).—Two heartbroken women met to console each other here today.

Mrs. Marion Weller, whose life was sauffed out when the submarine S-4 was sent to the bottom of Cape Cod Bay Saturday, was visited by Mrs. Graham Newell Pitch. Only six months ago Mrs. Fitch became the bride of the brave lieutenant who was the leader of the six men whose lives were prolonged by the scant supply of air left in the one chamber of the vessel which remained sealed against the sea.

The two women kissed and wept in silence. Their sympathy was too profound for words and they said little to each other. What they said was unrevealed, sealed against the sea.

The new evidence tending to pin the actual murder scene on the apartment which Hickman occupied under the name of Donald Evans was given by Police Chemist Rex Welsh. the city with renewed vigor. Fingerprints on the Car.

Fingerprints on the Car.

A check of fingerprints on the abandoned car revealed the imprints did not tally with those of young Hickman. While discouraging to investigators, it was not felt that the finding disposed entirely of the theory that the hunted youth was the driver, who escaped before dawn yesterday after a chase that led almost to the central police station and again last night was involved in a wreck.

Police pointed out that finger prints of some other persons who had driven the car might have been obtained instead of those of Hickman.

Jack Woods, filling station attendant, who pursued the car yesterday after its occupant had obtained five gallons of gasoline and sped away without making payment, identified a photograph of Hickman.

The car appeared last night on the south side, crashing into another machine at Vernon and Main streets. The motorist who reported the collision to the police said the man in the Cadillac resembled pictures of Hickman. The name of the motorist was withheld. Police said he related that the blue coupe backed away quickly, turned and disappeared after the crash.

Edward S. Scheller, comer of the Cadillac reported it was stolen not far from Wood's filling station. Wood pursued the car early yesterday but was outdistanced as the chase neared the central police station. It was not until later that Wood connected the incident wit the search for the killer.

Chief Cline, in holding to the theory that the youth had no accomplices, reiterated his belief that revenge was the sole motive for the slaying and that Hickman was actuated by his anger against the child's father for opposing probation when the youth, a former messenger at the bank of which Parker is assistant cashier, was tried for forcery.

Whether Marian was drugged after she was kidnaped from school last Thursday was a matter of conjecture, but three drug clerks identified Hickman's picture as the likeness of a man who had held up their stores and taken quantities of anesthetics. Tulsa, Okla., Dec. 21 (A.P.).—Acting on a report that William Hickman, accused slayer of Marian Parker, may be seeking refuge in his former home in Hartford, Ark., police today threw a guard on the highway east of here after three men declared they had seen a man answering Hickman's description.

A restaurant employe told police the suspected slayer may have been the man who stopped in his place of business last night and asserted he had driven from California in three days and nights. The man ordered coffee and left without paying for it, declaring he had no money.

Two other men reported seeing a man resembling photographs of Hickman.

Spafford, national commander of the American Legion, has written Secretary of the Navy Wilbur to express sympathy for the loss of the S-4. His letter stated: "To you, and through you, the American Legion desires to express its sincere sympathy because of the accident to the S-4. "The men who have lost their lives on the S-4 have given that supreme sacrifice in service to their God and their country. The Navy of the United States has been, and always will be an instrument of peace, an instrument to prevent war. "The membership of the American Legion having served to bring peace out of war, realizes more than the average citizen the sacrifices which those officers and men on board the S-4 have made." New London, Conn., Dec. 21 (A.P.).— Four officers and 43 men reenacted the opening chapter of the tragedy of the submarine 8-4 today, when they took the ill-fated vessel's companion ship, the 8-19, into Long Island Sound for a practice run. practice run.

After running for a time on the surface, the S-19 submerged as did the S-4 or its fatal voyage. When the vessel returned toward the surface and reached the stage at which 'he S-4 was rammed and sent to the bottom by the prow of the destroyer Paulding, not a trace of emotion appeared on the face of any man, and the S-19 came up safely.

The announced purpose of the run was to test the nerve and courage of the crew. Scorcely a man of them had not lost a friend in the S-4 disaster. Lieut. Alexander Edward, of Newport, R. I., one of the four officers, had slipped from the teeth of disaster in the waters of Cape Cod, when the submarine in which he took his post today was beached on the cape January 13, 1925.

Each officer and man on duty functioned as the part of a smooth running undersea machine. The atmosphere was slightly stinging with battery vapors and blue tinted from burning oil inside the great metallic fish, deep under the surface. "The hexardous nature of this uncharted flight of more than 21,000 miles would alone have justified the award. The skill, courage and ability shown by these filers reinforced the judgment of the committee.

"But above all these considerations, the flight was of outstanding importance because of the fact that it carried a message of good-will from the United States to 21 Latin-American countries which returned to us similar expressions of cordiality and amity."
